Claim Webster Chief Held Up Ballots

Criminal proceedings will be instituted against the chief of police of Webster for alleged wilful interference with delivery of the official ballots for the Presidential primaries, the Secretary of State's Department announced today.

The military authorities of the State also announced that they contemplated action against the Bancroft garage at Worcester for alleged unlawfully obstructing the delivery of the ballots.

Because of the railroad strike, the official ballots are being delivered by a fleet of powerful motor trucks of the military department in charge of uniformed State Guardsmen.

It is charged that Chief of Police Timothy Canty held up a truck and two State Guardsmen in Webster Friday night. The men left the truck in front of the Town Hall and went into a nearby restaurant. It is claimed that Canty searched the truck and then, entering the restaurant, charged the guardsmen with being deserters from Camp Devens.

He demanded to see their licenses and allowed them no opportunity to explain that operators of State trucks are not required to be licensed, it is claimed.

Canty took them to the town lockup and held them until military authorities at Boston finally convinced him that they were doing the lawful and proper business of the State, it is charged.

Two guardsmen in charge of a similar truck were detained by the Bancroft garage at Worcester because they did not have with them sufficient money to pay the garage bill, it is claimed. The truck was held in the garage until a Worcester friend of Colonel William R. Emery, the State Quartermaster, "put up the money."

The Secretary of State's office, claiming that the guardsmen and trucks were easily to be identified, said that the prosecution of Chief Canty will be made under a law which provides:

"Whoever wilfully obstructs or interferes with the transmission of ballots or returns to or from a balloting place shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year."

Dissolution of Combine of Railroad and Mining Companies Ordered

Washington, April 26.—The Supreme Court today decided, in the case of the government against the Reading Railroad Company to restrain monopoly of commerce by it in anthracite coal and to prevent transportation in violation of the "commodities clause" of the anti-trust laws, that there is such a monopoly as charged by the government, and directs the dissolution of the combine of the railroad and mining companies.

AUTO DRIVER IS BELIEVED SLAIN

Evidences of what the police believe to have been the murder of Oliver L. Ekland, No. 76 Laura street, Providence, were discovered today when the automobile which he was driving was found, with blood-soaked cushions, in Dorchester Lower Mills.

The machine, a sedan, was abandoned at Butler and Huntoon streets, and was taken by the police to the Jewel Park Garage, No. 42 Charles street.

Patches of hair were scattered about inside the car, and bloody finger-prints were found on the doors.

The police learned that young Ekland was last heard from on Sunday night, at which time he telephoned his sister that he was about to carry two men to Taunton from Providence.

The automobile, bearing the Rhode Island number 8843, was the property of Ekland's brother, Irving Ekland of No. 61 Verndale street, Providence. According to the police Oliver was accustomed to use it to go to and from his work at the factory of Lederer Brothers, manufacturing jewellers, in Providence.

FOUR BANDITS ARE LOCATED

East Braintree Robbers Are Reported Trailed to Buffalo, N. Y.

Four of the East Braintree bandits who shot and killed two employes of the Slater-Morrill Shoe Company, were today reported to have been located in Buffalo, N. Y.

Word to this effect was received at Boston police headquarters from the Pinkerton National Detective Agency.

It is understood that the Pinkertons have been watching four of the men for some time, and that they were waiting for the return of two more before making an arrest.

The four men, all known to the detectives, were thought to have made their way to that city after the crime, at which time the bandits escaped with $18,000.

The police believe that after the shooting of Paymaster Parmenter and his guard, Versadelli, the six bandits escaped in a stolen automobile and made their way to Providence. From that city they are thought to have gone to Buffalo, where the money was cached.

SINN FEIN ON HUNGER STRIKE

174 of 1,799 Interned at Wormwood Scrubbs Are Refusing Food

By International News Service.

London, April 26.—Announcement was made in the House of Commons this afternoon that 1,799 Irishmen are now interned in the government prison at Wormwood Scrubbs. Of this number 174 are now on hunger strike.

"Special ameliorative" treatment is being given the strikers, in line with the policy of the prison. Wormwood Scrubbs was the scene yesterday of a remarkable demonstration by Irish sympathizers.

The reply of the Sinn Fein members of Parliament to the government's new policy as announced today is: "We cannot and will not compromise. Immunity from raids means nothing. We demand freedom. We must have it."

Additional troops were landed in Dublin Sunday from British transports.

The Sinn Feiners at Dublin insist that Lord French will not return to Dublin Castle as Lord Lieutenant, despite the impression generally that no further changes are contemplated at present in the Irish government.

GEN. LEONARD WOOD and CONGRESSMAN ALVAN T. FULLER
(Candidate for Delegate-at-Large Pledged to Leonard Wood)

I was urged by General Wood's manager several months ago to announce my candidacy as a Delegate-at-Large to the Republican National Convention, which I did—believing Wood to be the man of all men to carry on those principles and policies that Theodore Roosevelt fought and died for.

Massachusetts for the first time in 100 years has an opportunity to name one of its citizens for President.

I believe the real sentiment of Massachusetts is strongly for Wood, and that if that sentiment can be crystallized into a victory at the polls next Tuesday, thereby giving him the hearty endorsement of his home State, then his election as our next President will be assured.

In order to make it possible, therefore, for each individual voter to express his sentiment at the polls, I have taken the opportunity provided by our Massachusetts Primaries, and have pledged myself to WOOD AND WOOD ALONE. All other candidates for Delegate-at-Large have stated preferences for two or more candidates.

Therefore—if you believe Leonard Wood should be our next President I merit your hearty support, because your vote for me means a vote for Wood first, last and all the time, without an if, an and or a but.

Serving the People

is our constant effort, and we serve them faithfully, in more ways than one.

There are two instances of which we want to speak:

Governor Coolidge signed a law last week based on a bill, originally drawn by us and sponsored by Representative Harvey E. Frost of Somerville, which enables banks the more readily to pay interest monthly to savings depositors and to allow withdrawals at any time practically without the loss of interest.

Some banks said that last year's law was too restrictive. This new law removes all valid objections to the payment of monthly interest, and the people should now insist upon receiving it from all banks and should not be misled by advertisements of banks which place but do not pay interest monthly to savings depositors. Placing deposits on interest monthly is not paying interest monthly, nor is it allowing deposits to be withdrawn practically without the loss of interest.

We have just loaned the Commonwealth of Massachusetts at the request of the State Treasurer, Fred J. Burrell, three million dollars at the rate of 5.55%. This is the lowest rate at which any State in the Union has at this time been able to borrow such an amount of money.

We could have loaned this money to others at a higher rate of interest, thereby increasing our profits and our stock dividends, but we wanted to serve the people, and considered a loan to the Commonwealth as a loan to them, and that the low interest charge would save them something in taxes.

The higher the interest charges the State pays, the higher the State tax is. By our Golden Rule banking we have saved the people many dollars in taxes.

Bank with a bank that fights the battles of the people.

Bank with a bank that is strong enough to lend three million dollars to the State.

Bank with a bank that is unselfish enough to lend the State money at a rate lower than prevailing rates.

Bank with a bank that is unselfish enough to pay savings depositors interest monthly and to allow withdrawals at any time practically without loss of interest.

VOTE FOR

WAR-GOVERNOR SAMUEL W. McCALL

FOR DELEGATE-AT-LARGE

Under him as Governor our Massachusetts soldiers were fully equipped and sent to the Mexican Border and also to France in advance of the soldiers of the other States. He was tireless in his care for them and for their folks at home. In all its war activities Massachusetts was in the very front rank. A vote for him will be a vote to defend the country and to save civilization from such another war.

He introduced in Massachusetts the first Corrupt Practices bill ever to pass any legislative body in America, and in Washington the first act on the same subject to become Federal Law. It was designed to check the shameless buying of offices which if not checked will destroy the republic.

Longer upon the great committee of Ways and Means than any other man ever from New England, his experience will help upon grave economic and financial questions. The country needs him at Chicago. Independent and liberal, yet he has steadily voted for the candidates of his party from his first vote. His name is the eighth on the list of candidates for delegates-at-large. You may vote for four. First find his name and begin by voting for him.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

That "overall" movie wasn't all a joke

WE went with our best girl the other night to see the movies at the Bijou. One of the scenes showed a Clothing Store with a sign, "overalls $4"—flick, flick . . . . (60,000 PEOPLE TO MARCH, WEARING OVERALLS, PROTESTING THE COST OF LIVING)—flick, flick—shop-keeper comes out . . . . the sign reads "overalls $8"

Perhaps this is a joke, but there are a lot of serious things in the point this story makes about lowering the cost of living. Do you need to wear overalls if you get clothes in the Filene Basement?

Do you really need overalls? If you buy overalls are you helping to increase the cost of overalls for people who must wear them? We are all for the "overall" movement, rightly guided it is healthy.

We are for a "wear old clothes Club." And just as we are for these steps in the right direction toward lower cost of living we advise buying in Filene's Basement, where reducing the cost of clothes is a rock bottom fundamental.

A Cambridge woman said Saturday: "Every time I read about 'overalls' I think of Filene's Basement and how it lowers the cost of living."

Filene's Basement has always been a place in which to lower the cost of living since the first click of its turnstiles in 1909—it is a place to lower the cost of living today. For example, tomorrow:

women's trimmed waists, 85c

leader, is reported to have been defeated by Federals at Linares, Nuevo Leon. Large forces of Federal troops have been sent into Michoacan. Railroad communications between Guadelajara and Mexico city have been interrupted by the burning of a bridge at Irapuato.

The burning of the International bridge at Laredo is reported to have been accidental.

Brownsville, Texas, April 26.—The activities of the Mexican rebels in Northeastern Mexico are today causing considerable concern in this city and the Texas town and hamlets expending a hundred miles or more up along the Rio Grande.

Almost overnight the swiftly-spreading revolution under the direction of General Obregon has broken out in this adjoining section of Mexico so forcefully that strict watches are being maintained day and night by the Texans who are fearful of raids by the unorganized bands accompanying the advancing revolutionists.

Already the advance guard of the Obregon forces is close upon Matamoros, the Mexican city just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, near the river's mouth. Alarming Brownsville and its vicinity, is the expectation that Obregon will; his operations in this district.

Late advices received here reported that Matamoros was seething with revolution and it was expected that the city officials would today declare secession from the Carranza regime and proclaim Obregon as President.

Washington, April 26.—Complete reports were awaited here today of the severe fighting between revolutionary troops and the Federal troops in the Ajusco Mountains, near Mexico City.

Incomplete details received at the Sonora agency here in charge of General Salvador Alvarado, one of the revolutionary leaders, indicated that the battle which is reported to be in progress in the Ajusco mountains may bring Mexico City into the storm centre of the revolution.

Early reports declared that several detachments of General Robelos' brigade in Morelos have joined the revolt and may enter into the fighting near Mexico City after having attacked General Elizondo, near Cuernavaca.

Confirmation was expected today of reports that the port of Manzanillo, in the State of Colima, had passed into hands of the rebels.

Reports received last week indicated that a large part of the coast of Mexico was likely to be in control of the rebels before another fortnight.

FINGER PRINTS OF 75 TAKEN

Police Believe $195,000 Bond Theft Was an "Inside Job," Keys Missing

Seventy-five employes of the American Pneumatic Service Company, No. 100 Boylston street, had their finger prints taken by the police today. The prints were compared with marks found on the safe of the concern after securities worth $195,000 were reported stolen.

The taking of the finger prints was decided on after the police became convinced that the big theft was an "inside job."

Most convincing proof of this theory was the discovery that a slip of paper containing the combination of the safe is missing. This slip was in the desk of a girl office employe. Its location was known to few.

Further proof that it was "an inside job" was seen in the manner in which the thieves weeded out good from bad securities. While all the securities taken were easily negotiable, those left behind were worthless.

Sensational disclosures are expected before the investigation goes much further. Banking circles are prepared to learn that the theft was really much larger than at first reported.

Today's police investigation revealed the fact that elevator men in the building at No. 100 Boylston street suspect that they took the key up to the Service Company's office the day of the theft. They remember taking up some man out of office hours, and say he acted suspiciously.

The police today were also investigating the disappearance of two keys to small compartments in the safe from which the securities were stolen. These keys were taken from the private office of a high official of the company.

Today circulars were being rushed out describing the securities which were taken. Included in the lot was $62,000 in treasury certificates of the Lamson Carrier Company, a subsidiary corporation. The remaining $132,000 is made up of refunding mortgage bonds of the American Pneumatic Service Company and United States Liberty Bonds.

Report Inaccurate, Writes McCall

The Boston American has received the following statement from former Governor Samuel W. McCall:

"As will sometimes happen in the most careful newspaper, the report of my Springfield speech in a Sunday paper was inaccurate. I certainly did not condemn the business or political methods of Mr. Thomas W. Lawson. I was not called upon to do either. I was only speaking to the point of the absurd intimation that there was any collusion between us in our present candidacies, or in his candidacy two years ago, and to the, if possible, more absurd assumption that I was Mr. Lawson's guardian. Very sincerely yours, "SAMUEL W. McCALL."

SAYS BEATING OF WIFE WAS RIGHT

But She Needed More, Says Attorney Feeney in the Flanagan Case

Beating a wife does not constitute cruel treatment by a husband when that wife is found in the embrace of another man, Attorney John P. Feeney, arguing for the husband in the Flanagan divorce case, today declared.

"In this case," he told Chief Justice Aiken, "I don't think the wife was beaten enough."

The attorney defended a husband's connivance against his wife when he had material evidence to justify such a course. Referring to detectives who testified that they had seen Dr. Flanagan visit Mrs. Flanagan's apartment since their separation, the lawyer said:

"Why do they send burglars and pickpockets to jail and yet license divorce detectives. If ever there was a scum of the earth it is this class of feeding pirates."

The Flanagan case, in which Dr. William Flanagan, chief surgeon at the Angell Memorial Hospital, charged his wife, Mabel C., with infidelity, entered into its third week when the attorney's arguments were completed today. An early decision is expected.

CHOOSE JURY TO TRY MRS. OTTERSON

Otterson has improved greatly in appearance since her arraignment. Her face has filled out; her nervousness has disappeared and she has gained more than twenty pounds.

The first session was occupied with drawing of a jury. Eighty-eight talesmen occupied the witness stands. The first juror called, John C. Fairbanks, was challenged by the government, Charley E. Mock was challenged by the defence.

Under the New Hampshire law, the jury, in case of a first degree verdict of murder, decides whether the penalty shall be death or life imprisonment.

The defence is that Otterson, who was a World War veteran, was shot by automobile bandits who made their escape.

LAST APPEAL FOR NEW STATION 2

Referring to a letter of Police Commissioner Curtis terming Station 2 a fire menace and unsanitary, inadequate and unfit for its present purpose, Mayor Peters made a final appeal to the City Council today to purchase the site at Milk and Sears street for the erection of a new police station.

An order for an appropriation of $85,000 out of cash remaining in the city treasury accompanied the communication.

The renewed option secured by the Mayor on the Milk site expires on April 30, and the Mayor points out that if the previous site at Arch and Hawley streets is sold at $135,000, the best price, the city will save $45,000 by buying the Milk street site at $89,000.

Commissioner Curtis expresses his preference for the Milk street site.

NURSE ON TRIAL IN DEATH CASE

Miss Margaret Evelyn Coumans, a twenty-three-year-old Newton nurse, went on trial in the Dedham Superior Court today, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death by scalding of Mrs. Mary C. Lotz of Malden in the Wiswall Hospital, Wellesley, November 11, 1919.

The young woman, whose case is being heard by Judge Webster Thayer and a jury, is charged by the government with being negligent through failing to visit the patient at half hour intervals while undergoing treatment in the "hydro" room of the hospital.

A jury was rapidly selected, only one challenge being made, and that by the government, and Harry J. Harris, a Brookline meat dealer, was chosen as foreman. William J. Rowell, a Millis barber, was excused after making a request following the usual questioning of the jury by the court. He said that he had formed an opinion. Two others were excused for the same reason, but before reaching the jury box.

Harold J. Williams, assistant district attorney of Norfolk County, appeared for the government, and Frank J. Squires for the defendant.

Miss Coumans, wearing a dark skirt and white silk waist, with no hat, sat at a table with her counsel, and presented a most attractive picture.

Opposition to this measure, which would permit "loan sharks" to charge 60 per cent. interest per year on unsecured loans of $50 or less, is coming from all over the State. The Massachusetts Credit Union Association has taken up the fight and points to its methods of making small loans as a panacea for "the loan shark evil."

The pending bill having been quietly passed through the Massachusetts House and Senate, only the enactment stage remains to be acted upon Wednesday. But many Representatives and Senators have awakened to the serious import of the measure and they are expected to vote it down.

UNIONS BOOK TO POOR.

The existing law permits lenders of small amounts to charge 12 per cent. a month, or 36 per cent. a year, but the credit union is lending money profitably at generally not more than 1 per cent. per month, or 12 per cent. a year. Why persons in straitened circumstances and needing $50 or $100 have not gone to the credit unions is declared to be due to their ignorance that such an organization is in existence.

Back in 1909, such men as Edward A. Filene, Max Mitchell and Felix Vorenberg, with the co-operation of the Boston American, brought about legislation establishing credit unions. They have grown by leaps and bounds. They have been formed among various trades and professions.

Sixty credit unions are in operation today. The report of the State bank commissioner for these institutions shows that during the year ended October 31, 1919, they had gross assets of $2,781,165 and the total membership was 22,957. They made loans amounting to $2,153,842 and from the examinations made during the year it appears that the losses incurred have been practically negligible.

OWN SHARES IN UNION.

"This amount of money loaned among a membership of about 23,000 and to probably more than 10,000 borrowers whose financial standing was such as to preclude the possibility of loans from other institutions," says the report, "must have done a very great amount of good and have been a great help in time of need to many people."

Nearly $45,000 was distributed in interest and approximately $30,000 was paid in dividends, with $26,824 more held as undivided earnings to be given out as dividends later.

Augustus L. Thorndike, former bank commissioner, speaking of the credit unions, said: "In the old world—in Germany for example—there is a credit union for about every 2,500 people. If we had the credit union system fully extended in Massachusetts there would be room for 1,500 credit unions."

Roy F. Bergengren of the Massachusetts Credit Union Association points to the statement of Mr. Thorndike as indicating the great demand for credit unions, operating in a sound manner and charging only a reasonable interest rate. He says that any one in the community can apply to one of these credit unions and be accommodated, provided they are of good character and responsible persons.

The only requirement is that they own one or more shares in the union, which average about $5 each. "The credit union not only helps needy persons to get on their feet," he said, "but it instils the necessity of thrift. By owning a share or more in the credit union they receive dividends, and if for any reason they must dispose of their shares, the union buys them back.

UNFAIR LEGISLATION.

"It is outrageous legislation they are trying to have passed," he declared. "The interest rate they seek is quite unreasonable and only shows how necessary it is to increase membership in credit unions and form additional ones. The Massachusetts Credit Union Association is very anxious to see that the 2 per cent. interest provision is eliminated before the bill is passed.

"Credit unions are completely co-operative in that the funds come from the gradually accumulated small savings of the members, the loans are made to members and member has one vote, no matter how much he has deposited, and despite the large business done last year, the Bank Commissioner reports that there are practically no losses."

GOULD DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES

Points to Six Bathrooms in His Villa in Answer to Her Allegations

(Note: In suing Frank J. Gould in the New York Supreme Court last Friday for separation and suitable maintenance, Mrs. Edith Kelly Gould, who refuses to acknowledge the divorce decree Gould obtained in Paris last December, charged her multi-millionaire husband with habitual drunkenness and uncleanliness. She charged he could not be induced to take a bath more often than once a month, that once he did not change his clothes for six weeks, and that he washed his own underclothing in cold water without soap, for economy's sake.

Universal Service cabled to its staff correspondent at Paris, C. F. Berelli, to obtain a statement from Gould in answer to his wife's sensational accusations. Below is the millionaire's reply.)

By FRANK J. GOULD.

Paris, April 26.—What's this I hear about my wife suing me in New York—she says I bathed only once a month?

Why, it's an idiotic invention. Just like the remainder of the string of allegations by which she apparently expects to secure the sympathy of an American court and reversal of the judgment against her which was confirmed at Versailles this year.

I have six bathrooms in my villa, the Maison Ladite. Not only that, but I have a swimming pool modelled after that ancient one at Rome that belonged to Caesar. In the face of these facts it is obviously absurd to suggest I do not bathe.

As far as the other charges are concerned, that of infidelity is ridiculous, as it was she, my wife, who quit our conjugal domicile accompanied by her affinity. It was after this that I instituted proceedings against her.

Then she accuses me of drunkenness. Now, I am not a pussyfoot. I like my cocktail before dinner. But I deny absolutely the foolish exaggeration contained in my wife's complaint.

Paris, April 26.—Amplifying the above statement by Frank J. Gould himself, his lawyer, C. G. Loeb, told Universal Service that both he and Gould were "very much surprised" at Mrs. Gould's court action in New York.

He asserted that by appearing personally on February 21, 1919, in the court at Versailles, Mrs. Gould recognized the jurisdiction of that court, and that the judgment rendered there was absolutely legal.

"And far as we are concerned," said Loeb, speaking for his client, "we intend ignoring Mrs. Gould's suit in New York."

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

Noblewomen Learning to Make Dresses

London, April 26.—British princesses, marchionesses, duchesses and countesses are numbered among the pupils of Mlle. Esperance Renee, fashionable Bond street dressmaker. The titled pupils are enthusiastic over their new work and many have become expert in cutting, finishing and fitting.

"We are shortly starting a class for debutantes," Mlle. Renee told Universal Service. "We give them the same instruction that we give our apprentices. If they could not succeed in getting a stitch right or in making any part of a garment correctly, they must do it over and over again until it is right."

STRIKE BREAKERS BEGIN UNLOADING STEAMSHIPS

Non-union laborers today began unloading steamships at the Clyde and Savannah lines which have been tied up at the local docks since March 1 by the longshoremen's strike. Strong police details were on duty at the docks of both companies. At Lewis wharf one hatchway of the Clyde line steamer Lake Ferlbault was broken open. The Lake Ellenorah of the same line was being moved down from Pirkle's wharf to the unloading pier. At the Hoosac Tunnel docks of the Savannah line strike breakers were at work in the hold of the Nacoochee, in since March 2. The City of Rome was to follow. Ships of both lines have valuable cargoes. Minor portions of these cargoes consisted of foodstuffs, spoiled weeks ago.

The property is owned by Souther Blaikie.

REPARATION CUT TO 12 BILLIONS

Germany's Penalty Reduced One-half by Supreme Council at San Remo

Exclusive cable to Universal Service and the London Daily Express.

San Remo, April 26.—Germany will be asked to pay $6,000,000,000 marks as the total reparations sum, the Supreme Council has decided. The conference will break up tomorrow.

Fifty billion marks at the normal pre-war value of the German mark would be approximately $12,500,000,000. This would be about one-half of the total reparations amount originally decided upon at Versailles, where the French for a time held out for as much as $40,000,000,000.

U. S. Unlikely to Take Mandate for Armenia

Washington, April 26.—The decision of the allied premiers at San Remo to ask President Wilson to accept the mandate for Armenia, as reported in cable messages from the conference, apparently was taken without accurate knowledge of the situation here with respect to the relations between the President and Congress.

It is extremely unlikely that Congress would give its assent to the acceptance of a mandate for Armenia or any other foreign country involving the sending of large amounts of money and perhaps troops abroad. The present temper of Congress is to keep out of such alliances.

The State Department has received no confirmation of the dispatch from San Remo.

Yesterday's newspapers published a message stating that it had been decided to ask the United States to join the Allied governments in making a large loan to Armenia. No official confirmation of this message has been received, either.

Litvinoff Is Barred From Entering England

By International News Service.

London, April 26.—The Supreme Council has decided that the Litvinoff-Krasin delegation from Soviet Russia shall have free entrance to all allied countries for the purpose of discussing trade and economic matters, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from San Remo today. Great Britain will not permit Litvinoff to enter England because of objections to him personally. This objection is based upon Litvinoff's activities while he was acting as the Bolshevik "Ambassador" to London.

DAYLIGHT LAW POPULAR

Commuters Experience Little, if Any, Difficulty in Getting Their Trains

Daylight saving, which went into effect yesterday, received its first real workout today.

Commuters, previously coached by the newspapers, experienced but little difficulty, as the majority of trains arrived and departed at their usual schedules, although actually running an hour ahead.

Business offices, stores, factories and shops opened at their customary hour, and those persons who simply forgot all about the change, after setting their watches and clocks forward, had no trouble.

EAT DINNER BY DAYLIGHT.

The extra hour of daylight was particularly acceptable to the bulk of the people, on Sunday, as after spending the entire afternoon in the open air they were able to eat dinner by daylight. The roads were covered with automobiles and street cars were crowded by thousands hurrying into the country in order to take advantage of the sunlight.

Those pessimists who complained that they were losing an hour's sleep were reluctantly compelled to admit that this was made up at night when they retired actually one hour earlier than usual.

There was some confusion in the North and South Stations until commuters had it borne in on them that railroad time as well as just one hour behind Massachusetts daylight saving time. Trains coming from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont to Boston also had their schedules changed.

RUSH FOR TIME TABLES.

In all cases the hour earlier rule was not followed, however, this being true of through trains, which left their starting points at their regular time, arriving in Boston one hour earlier. In other words, these trains ran as usual, except that there was a change at this end.

Railroad employes at the information booths in the stations gave away thousands of revised time tables, and extra telephone operators were put on to take care of the expected rush of inquiries. Officials stated, however, that there was far less trouble than had been expected. They explained that while there were many mixups Sunday, this was to be expected, as the throngs who travel on that day usually remain at home on week days. The regular daily commuters, however, were not affected to any extent.

HUB PROFITEERS FACE EXPOSURE

Special Federal Grand Jury Investigation Begins Here Tomorrow

Federal officials in Boston will begin tomorrow a special Grand Jury investigation into charges of profiteering. Boston profiteers will be run to earth, it is promised, if proof is forthcoming that they have exploited the public in the sale of necessaries of life.

The probe will be directed by United States District Attorney Daynton, who will be furnished with evidence secured by the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life and other State and Federal investigators. Special attention will be given to coal prices and the charge that the most recent increase was not justified.

The local probe follows an attack by Senator Capper on country-wide profiteering in all necessaries, particularly in the case of sugar. Senator Capper, characterizing the dealers as "profit hogs," urged that the United States place an embargo on exports of sugar, confiscate all stores and distribute them to the public at cost. He cited statements by dealers that the price of sugar would mount to 50 cents a pound, referred to the "vanishing season raid" in which American housewives are every year "openly and shamelessly robbed," and declared that "the United States has become a robbers' roost."

He cited instances in which firms had increased their profits as high as 15 per cent since those of a few years ago. In the list he named: National Candy Company, 546 per cent increase in earnings; American Ice Company, 232 per cent.; United Drug Company, 242 per cent.; Continental Oil and United Fuel Gas, 200 per cent.; Amoskeag Cotton Manufacturing Company, Nashua Manufacturing Company, Ohio Fuel Supply, Nonquit Spinning Company and Stutz Motors, each 100 per cent.

"At a house party," said one of the dozen.

Magistrate Schwab lined the men up, had them raise their hands and swore them all to refrain from liquor in any manner, shape or form."

HUNT WOMAN IN THIEVES' 'TRUST'

Charged That 'Shoplifter de Luxe,' Out on Bail, Has Disappeared

Search was continued today for Katherine Reynolds, charged by the police with being one of the directing heads of a "shoplifters' trust" in Boston. Miss Reynolds, known as the "shoplifter de luxe," is charged with their of goods worth $15,000 from department stores.

The police allege, however, that these goods form but a small part of the loss of thousands of dollars worth stolen within the past few months by the "trust." This combination is declared to have a manager board, composed of men and women of education, and "inside" workers who in some instances occupy positions of responsibility in the stores where they are employed.

Miss Reynolds was recently arrested for her alleged raids on the big department stores. She was released on $2,000 bail. Saturday an attempt was made to locate her, and the police, discovered, it is stated, that she had fled the city.

Search of her apartments in Cambridge and South Boston revealed furs, jewelry and other merchandise worth in excess of $15,000.

$2,200 JEWELRY STORE ROBBERY

Three Held in Providence Following Recovery of Bushel Basket of Loot

Providence, April 26.—Burglars sawed their way through the wall of Benjamin Jenkyn's jewelry store today, ruined the jeweler's safe through the rear door and into another store-room where they rifled the jewelry valued at $2,000 and $200 in cash.

Money and jewelry identified by Jenkyn was later recovered by the police in the room of three young men at the lodging house of Ben Cohen on Dorrance street. It filled a bushel basket.

The occupants were arrested and held on the burglary charge. They are Harry Smith, thirty-five, of Chester, Pa.; William Cohen, twenty-eight, of Philadelphia, and Sam Wallace, twenty-four of New York City. The landlord and Harry Eugene, twenty, of Providence, who shared the room with the other three men, were held for investigation. WILL EXPLAIN RENT RELIEF

Commissioner Gannon of Jersey City to Speak at Mass Meeting of Tenants

John J. Martin, vice-president of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, will preside, and Commissioner James B. Gannon of Jersey City will be one of the speakers at the big mass meeting to be held in Tremont Temple Monday evening, May 3, under the auspices of the Boston American Tenants' League.

John J. Martin was one of the first to indorse the purposes of the Boston American Tenants' League and that body was formed. He is an authority on the subject of housing property and one of the best known real estate men in Boston.

Commissioner Gannon of Jersey City is the man through whose efforts rent profiteering ceased abruptly in Jersey City. He marshaled the entire city government and aided by the tenants themselves carried through a movement which drove the profiteers out of town. In one month he handled over 5,000 cases of rent profiteering so skilfully that only two landlords contested his decision in court. And he won those two cases. Today Jersey City is looked upon as the proper place for profiteers.

Commissioner Gannon has never spoken regarding his methods outside of Jersey City, and his acceptance of the invitation of the Boston American Tenants' League to address the public of Boston at the Tremont Temple mass meeting Monday evening, May 3, first, that he considers the League an organization worthy of a great commitment; and second, that he believes conditions in Boston and Massachusetts are critical enough to call for immediate measures.

His message to the people of Boston at this time is a vital and an interesting one. He will explain in detail how he afforded relief to the public of Jersey City, and outline his idea of future needs.

PLEDGE AID TO MEETING.

These two speakers alone should indicate to rent payers that aside from the immeasurable importance as a demonstration of public opinion, the mass meeting will be one which not only every tenant but every good landlord will want to attend. There will be other speakers, all of them important messages regarding the rent situation.

Organizations desiring to take part in the tenants' parade and mass meeting—which will cost them nothing—should communicate at once with the Rent Editor in order that preparations for this demonstration may be completed. Instructions for individuals participating in the parade will be announced in a day or two.

It is planned to have the parade begin promptly at 7 o'clock and the mass meeting promptly at 8 o'clock.

Noted Robber Dies in Revolver Duel

Chicago, April 26.—One of the most spectacular careers in the history of burglary in the United States closed today, when Harry J. James, a "second-story" man, charged with thefts amounting to $500,000, was killed. James had been found loitering behind a building. While being searched he wounded two policemen. Firing at every step and pursued by a dozen policemen, James found refuge behind a patrol wagon. Here a revolver duel ended when the bandit fell with a bullet through his brain. Search of a garage which [illegible] robber had established revealed property valued at $100,000.

CANADA BARS WAR HISTORY

Myers' Latest Edition Gives Undue Credit to U. S., Provincials Fed

Montreal, April 26.—The Montreal Star says:

"Myers' General History, which is in use in the New Brunswick schools as a text book, and is also in use in other provinces in Canada, in a new edition recently issued, gives what an official statement issued from the Canadian provincial government office declares is undue credit to the United States for the part which that nation took in the war and omitted such reference to the part taken by Canada as would be right and proper.

"A letter written by C. L. Armstrong, a lecturer attending the University of New Brunswick, who had served overseas, brought public attention to the matter, and the official statement referred to, which was issued from the government offices, is telling of the action that has been taken, says, the Board of Education, at its last meeting, has taken steps to prevent the further circulation of the objectionable edition of this history in the public schools, and has notified the provincial wholesale firm of stationers who handle this history that the same has not been authorized by the Board of Education, and will not be purchased, and that the previous edition of the book will be used until further notice.

"In a letter addressed by the chief superintendent to this distributing firm it was stated that, 'Under these circumstances I think the publishers should exchange any volumes you have or have sold to other booksellers in the province for the books of the previous edition, and I am requested by the board to ask you to negotiate to bring this about as soon as may be possible. If it is not possible to do this we shall have to cancel the text book at the earliest possible date. The Board of Education of New Brunswick has notified the education board of other provinces such as Nova Scotia and Manitoba, who are using the text book in question, of the action taken with reference to it here.'"

STORIES OF HOPELESS SUFFERERS WHO GOT WELL

A Rheumatic Sufferer Tells of Her Recent Experience, and Expresses Her Thankfulness for Uricsol

Personal experiences are of interest to every one. Miss Josie Maxwell is glad to get well and, more than that, she is anxious to pass on to others the knowledge and help that URICSOL has been to her. Miss Maxwell suffered terribly, for nine years, from rheumatism. No one ever thought she would be well again. However, judge for yourself. Here is the way Miss Maxwell tells it.

"Don't know of any one who was wrecked so badly as I was—for nine years, bed-ridden most of the time. I had rheumatic inflammation throughout my body. No one thought I would ever be well again. Given up many times to die, and time after time not able to help myself in any way. I took over two dozen bottles, and consider myself well. But I still take a little most every day, as it is also a good tonic and keeps my system clean, and I shall always keep it on hand.

"I have given as many as fifty people the address, and know of a good many who have ordered the medicine just from knowing what it has done for me. Others have asked me to sell them some, and I have loaned them a few bottles until they could order some.

"Feel I owe you this much, just to tell you what your medicine has done for me."

Miss Maxwell is a Georgia girl, and everybody for miles knows of the wonderful relief from rheumatism she has gained with the aid of Uricsol.

Other letters come to us daily from other sufferers of rheumatism. One and all, the credit of the relief from suffering is given to Uricsol.

Uricsol, you know, is a preventive as well as a remedy, and is a combination of Uric Acid Solvents that tones up the stomach and bowels instead of impairing digestion.

Clear the human system of uric acid, and the cause of rheumatism is eliminated.

URICSOL is the greatest known combatant of uric acid that physicians have ever known. Kill the cause and you kill the disease.

Uricsol is just what the name implies. "Uric-sol" means uric acid solvent. It flushes and cleanses the system of waste matter. Taken properly (a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning), will rid your system of poisons in a natural way, and will relieve the stomach of sour-back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

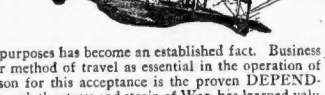
AIRCRAFT for Business Use



THE adaptability of aircraft to practical business purposes has become an established fact. Business men are coming to look on this swifter, cleaner method of travel as essential in the operation of a successful, up-to-date organization. The reason for this acceptance is the proven DEPENDABILITY of more recent types. The NAVY, through the stress and strain of War, has learned valuable lessons which, incorporated in the construction of seaplanes and flying boats, have produced marvels of DEPENDABILITY. They are offering several hundred of these latest model seaplanes, many of them still in the original packing cases, at phenomenally low prices. These seaplanes and flying boats, having passed rigid NAVY inspection, are probably the most dependable type of aircraft in the world. They are not toys nor experimental jobs, but are similar to the types used by the NAVY today. They have low fuel cost per passenger mile, long flying range, and are able to withstand the waves and weather. These 'planes are

ALL NEW—NEVER HAVE BEEN FLOWN

Seaplanes already purchased from the Navy have proved good investments as passenger and express carriers. They have rendered valuable aid to lumbermen in cruising tracts of timber land and fire patrol. They have been used by fishermen in locating schools of fish, are daily demonstrating their value as mail and express carriers and in countless other ways. This is

HS-2-L FLYING BOAT: Pusher biplane; Liberty engine of 330 H. P.; wing spread 74 feet; maximum speed 85 miles per hour. Sale price $6,160.

H-16 FLYING BOAT: Tractor biplane; two Liberty engines of 330 H. P. each; wing spread 95 feet; maximum speed, 95 miles per hour. Sale price $11,053.

F-5-L FLYING BOAT: Tractor biplane; two Liberty engines of 330 H. P. each; wing spread 104 feet; maximum speed 37 miles per hour. Sale price $12,400.

MODEL 40 FLYING BOAT: Pusher biplane Curtiss engine; wing spread 48 feet; maximum speed 70 miles per hour; sale price $4,000.

AEROMARINE 39-B SEAPLANE: Tractor biplane; Curtiss 100 P. P. engine; wing spread 47 feet; maximum speed 73 miles per hour; sale price $3,000. This seaplane has been endorsed by navy fliers as one of the safest and most easily operated type of aircraft. A manufacturer has placed on the market a set of wheels and tail skids which, substituted for the pontoons, converts this plane into a land machine.

BOEING SEAPLANES: Tractor biplanes; Hall-Scott engine; wing spread 44 feet; maximum speed 73 miles per hour. Sale price $3,000.

ENGINES: In addition to those in the 'planes, Liberty, Curtiss, Hall-Scott, Renault and others; spare parts for most of the above 'planes are available to purchasers.

BALLOON: Captive balloon used for observation purposes. Sale price $2,500.

A demonstration of the usefulness of the type of 'planes offered for sale occurred at Miami, Florida, recently. An H-16 flying boat, purchased from the NAVY, after slight modification (costing about $1,000), carried fourteen passengers in addition to the pilot and the mechanician from Bimini, in the Bahama Islands, to Miami, Florida. The distance was forty miles. This plane and others have been flying commercially from Miami for several months with profitable returns. What has been accomplished by this plane can also be accomplished by the F-5-L flying boats and others of similar construction. As these 'planes can be used for 'cross-country flights as well as 'cross-water flights, wherever there are canals, river or lakes, they have come into favor in the middle Western States as strongly as they have on either the Atlantic or Pacific Coast.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

TO COLORED PEOPLE

I appeal to you openly, above-board, straight from the shoulder.

You who have so long been tricked and trafficked by politicians—when your help was needed with leering lies—when you needed their help, with jeering passing-bys.

I want your help—now.

You know me. I know you. Thousands of you in the State and tens of thousands of you in the country have said to me, in your hour of need, "PLEASE," the church is only partly paid for, the hospital must be built, the home mortgage must be met, the daughter must have medical aid, the boy's slip-up must be bailed, "PLEASE" for the wife and the babies' sake; for the old mother who must go to the Home and not the Poor-house, "PLEASE."

In a thousand ways your kindly race has come to me and never went away empty-handed, never. Thousands of you know this. If any do not know or doubt, ask the nearest parson, doctor, leader of the race; ask the neighbor what he personally knows.

I employ, and have all my life, many colored people. Ask them, any of them, about me. Ask the waiter who for forty-six years has looked after my wants; ask the hundreds of his associates; ask the old cabby who drove me as a boy; ask the tailor who pressed my knee pants and on up to today's trousers.

If you do not personally know any of my deeds, ask the first one of your race you meet, he or she will know of me.

All through life you have said, "If only we could do something to show our gratitude." I never ran for office (that was for honor) last year, and then only to right a vile wrong to another); I never blatherskite to you or seek you for my own ends; always I listen to your pleas.

Now you can do something for me—something that will not cost you a penny.

Four delegates-at-large to the National Republican Convention are to be voted for next Tuesday. I want to go to the Convention as delegate-at-large of every colored man for all time—introducer of oppressed humanity. This is the year a man can do something. I want to be there to do it. I was there eight years ago, four years ago, as fighting captain for the grand Roosevelt. I want to be there this year. I am spending thirty thousand dollars of my own money to get there. I want no office, no power, no reward of any kind.

Will you not, every man of you, when in the booth next Tuesday, mark a big cross against my name? I don't care who you mark for the other three, but mark my name, for this year with your united help I can win.

TO SWEDES

I ask your help this year. I have not got to give the Swedish people of America any special reason for expecting their help for a public duty. The country over they know me. I know them.

It was that great man of the American people, that great man of the Swedish people, John Johnson, Governor of the great State of Minnesota, my life-long friend and associate, who said, and I have quoted it as one of my proudest possessions, "To my way of thinking, my friend Tom Lawson than whom I know no man better has done more public good than any man in this age." I point any Swedish voter who has doubt of my being the right man to stand and send to the National Republican Convention this year to do things for the American people to the above for his answer and to the fact that I started and worked to the finish in the creation and erection of the beautiful monument to the memory of that truly great man and then was selected by the Swedish people to deliver the unveiling eulogy to the man who in my opinion was a real second Abraham Lincoln.

TO IRISH

But it is when it gets down to the Irish of the State and nation for a favor that I am at my happiest. I know them, they know me, how and why we do not have to waste words telling.

All I say to any Irishman is if you don't know me ask the nearest Father, the Mother Superior, any Sister in any of your great institutions. They will tell enough and to spare to satisfy you that for any place in the land where something can be done to lighten the load to the heavily laden, where something can be done to let in the light of God's bright life-saving sun I can be trusted to do my part next Tuesday.

Ask any of the leaders of your race, any of your great Irish-American citizens if you Irish Republicans owe it to me to put your cross against my name next Tuesday.

I know, no one better, that politics is no place for class or race, but this delegate-at-large affair is different from ordinary politics. This Convention affair is the place for any argument that will get a man there who has my purpose in mind.

My plea is not politics; it is a plea for God's right. A plea against the Devil's wrong. It is a plea for humanity and as such I make it to every real blooded Irish Republican in the State.

Put your cross against my name next Tuesday that I may show you from the opening to the close of the Republican Convention the ripsnortingest Kilkenny in all history.

TO HEBREWS

No appeal of mine for the granting of an opportunity to do my bit for the people would be complete unless I asked the thousands of you my strongest friends and the greatest champions of the people to give me a lift.

On Tuesday next you are to vote for four delegates-at-large. You, with your always well posted ideas on public affairs, know that it will not really make the slightest difference after you have chosen three of the delegates who the fourth one is. At the same time you will know after reading my platform and mentally scanning the present unrest, country-wide and world-wide, that it may make a tremendous difference to the outcome of the Convention if I go there with the backing of the old Bay State.

You, none better, know that I will under such conditions do things there or I will, if prevented, raise hell in the attempt. Therefore, be the good fellows you always are and at least add your bit to the gayety of this at present solemn world by voting for me next Tuesday so that you may say as you read the first day's headlines, "Well, we helped him to do it, we sure did."

TO YANKEES

Will you vote for me next Tuesday, will you, I ask? I have a right to ask.

I am a life-long Republican. I am the son of a soldier.

My two daughters and two sons jumped into khaki at the first call, two of them are still wearing the uniform.

I gave of my fortune, my time and my energy to humanity's war.

I have done my bit for humanity continuously for forty years.

I spent over $2,200,000 of my own money to carry to a successful issue the great Life Insurance fight to save the insurance people billions yearly which was formerly stolen by the big thieves of the country.

I ask to be sent to the Convention to do the biggest reform of my career.

I ask no office, no power, no reward of any sort.

My platform is below. I am paying all the expenses of this campaign personally. I have no private axe to grind, no loot to collect.

Will you, will you, I ask, vote for me next Tuesday regardless of who you vote for the other three delegates?

Do it and I pledge myself that when the Convention is over you will say, "By Gosh, Tom Lawson's Conventions have other uses than the humdrum uses we have always thought were their function."

TO MOTHERS, WIVES, DAUGHTERS

Since the beginning of your battles for suffrage I have given to you of my time, effort, money whenever you asked.

Here is a chance for you to do something for me.

I want to go to the Convention to do something for every mother, wife and daughter in the land; something real for humanity.

You can send me there by making your fathers, husbands, sons, put their crosses against my name next Tuesday.

Do it this year when a man, a triple-eyed, three-fisted man, can do something which may never be done again at a National Convention. Do it and I will do things when there that will make you thank God you sent me.

TO REPUBLICAN VOTERS

Put your cross against my name Tuesday.

You will thank God you did.

I will, if there as a delegate-at-large, compel planks and resolutions that will red-type across the world, as 1776 was, 1861 was, "Victory for the People" or "This Convention marked the downfall of the greatest Republic on earth."

MY PLATFORM

THEODORE ROOSEVELT
America's grandest man.

2.—The return to the people of the 8 billion dollars stolen from the people during and after the war.

THIEVES LOOT MALDEN STORES

Policeman Attempts to Stop Bandits Who Robbed Malden and Lynn Stores

The police of Malden, Lynn and neighboring communities are searching for thieves who during the night broke into Malden stores and a garage, taking clothing valued at $2,000, money and an automobile and beating into insensibility the watchman at the garage.

Metropolitan Policeman Herbert of Eliot Circle, Revere, fired at a car which passed him about 2.45 a. m. at high speed and without lights, and later found a car believed to have been used by the robbers, abandoned between Revere and Chelsea.

Four suit cases, two bags and $2,000 worth of clothing was taken from the store of the Benoit-McShane Company on Pleasant street, Malden, and $30 in cash from the Atlantic & Pacific tea store at No. 103 Pleasant street, next door. The thieves overlooked $500 hidden in a coffee can directly under the cash drawer. Unsuccessful breaks were made at Scribner's Express Office on Florence street and the Malden Coal Company's office on Pleasant street.

CITIES OPPOSE TAX ON SALES

Municipalities, Named by Committee, Have Not Adopted Proposed Plan

A canvass by the Boston American of the cities named by Secretary Hanford of Mayor Peters' committee on New Resources of Revenue for the City of Boston, as those in which the 1 per cent. tax on gross retail sales is now operative, shows that only one of the places quoted is using such a tax and only one other, Los Angeles, has a similar tax, which figures approximately one-tenth of one per cent. of gross sales.

The cities named by Secretary Hanford are Cincinnati, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Reading, Pa., and Birmingham, Ala.

Officials of these cities, with the exception of Birmingham, declare the system of taxation on retail sales to be unjust and inequitable.

City officials of Cincinnati say that no such tax system is in use in that city and that the use of the name of their city is evidently for propaganda purposes.

Charles W. Dauss, city counselor of St. Louis, declared that to raise revenue on any such theory would be unconstitutional in Missouri, and in any event would be impracticable.

THE READING PLAN.

A tax similar to the one proposed is in vogue in Reading. There merchants doing an annual business of more than $75,000 are taxed $100 a year; those doing a business of more than $50,000 and less than $75,000 are taxed $50 a year and each $10,000 reduction under cuts $10 from the tax, so that the man who does a business of $5,000 a year pays $5.

Even this sliding scale law created protest from a class of merchants in Reading. The measure was passed and will go into effect May 1 and the taxes will be due June 1.

Under the present city charter of Los Angeles, the people cannot be taxed for more than one dollar on every $100 assessed valuation and this dollar limit is in effect.

In order to meet the increasing demands of the Los Angeles city government, particularly with reference to increasing the salaries of firemen and policemen, the City Council enacted a business license tax as an emergency measure. A series of conferences were held and while it was admitted on every side that such a measure was unjust and inequitable, a tax was imposed on practically every business and industry in that city.

The basis of this tax is one-tenth of one per cent. on the gross receipts of the business.

In the meantime an amendment is proposed to the city charter, which will be placed before the people by referendum, to do away with the emergency law and allow the funds necessary for the conduct of the city to be raised by regular taxation.

The Los Angeles tax law is extremely unpopular, and the question of the constitutionality of the law has been taken to the courts.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Boston for week ending Saturday, April 24th, on shipments sold out, ranged from 13.89 cents to 28.34 cents per pound and averaged 21.69 cents per pound.—Advt.

CONTINUANCE IS GIVEN COLYERS

Will Not Accept Cut in Bail Unless Sanctioned by Communists

Mrs. William T. Colyer, who, with her husband, has been held at the Immigration Station in $10,000 bail for participation in "Red" activities, told Judge George W. Anderson, in the Federal Court today, she or her husband could not accept the government's offer to reduce their bail to $500, unless they received the sanction of the Communist party.

The Colyers were informed that if they remained in the charge of the government they would have to be separated. Mr. Colyer would be sent to Deer Island, while Mrs. Colyer would remain at the Immigration Station.

As a result they appeared today but asked a continuance, which was granted, in which to make up their minds on the bail question.

To United States District Attorney Louis Goldberg, who said he thought the petitioners should be given time to consider the matter, Judge Anderson said:

"I think if provided freedom they ought not to indulge themselves in Communist propaganda. My decision is only a minor step of their rights in this country and if they should repeat what they have done, the Supreme Court might hold their actions illegal and, therefore, they would find themselves in an embarrassing position.

"I believe in free speech, free printing and assemblage. But as St. Paul said: 'Be ye moderate in all things.' If I were a Socialist I'd keep still a few months. I would run my head against a stonewall. I am sincerely anxious that these aliens shall have due process of law. The fact they are not citizens cannot leave them subject to personal whims."

Colyer then asked the Court if he could write of his experiences while at Deer Island.

"You may write of your experiences, but you cannot refer or write of revolution, violence or force."

Mrs. Colyer then asked if she might not work to improve the Communist party.

"You had better give the Communist party a Summer vacation" replied Judge Anderson.

BAPTISTS WELL IN THE LEAD

More Than $4,000,000 Raised for Interchurch World Movement in 24 Hours

With the Interchurch World Movement drive scarcely more than twenty-four hours old, $4,380,225 was reported today to have been raised by churches in New England toward the goal of $14,145,000. The total fund is $336,727,000, while the figure set for Massachusetts is $11,392,000.

The Baptists, who, it is stated, have set a larger financial goal than any of the thirty co-operating denominations were well in the lead today.

Partial returns forecast a speedy and successful finish.

Nearly three times the goal set was reached by the First Congregational Church of Woburn, when $6,000 was raised, while the First Congregational Church of Wollaston raised its quota of $1,561 in fifteen minutes.

The first Baptist Church in Suffolk County to go over the top, it is believed, was the Stratford Street Church of West Roxbury, with a subscription of $20,558. This church was given a quota of $17,954.

According to a statement made today by John Kemble, publicity director for the Interchurch World Movement, there are approximately 570 Protestant Churches in Greater Boston, and more than 70 per cent. are co-operating in the movement.

Although Regional Director Alfred C. Bates and Massachusetts Director Eben L. Bevan have no complete returns, they stated that the report which will be compiled tonight will show a marked gain.

Fifty per cent. of the Baptist churches in Greater Boston "went over the top" in raising their quota in the campaign in Massachusetts for over $7,000,000, it was announced today at the gathering of Baptist ministers in Kingsley Hall.

Rev. Denton Nelly of Medford, who presided, congratulated the ministers upon their three hours' work yesterday afternoon when they raised over half of their quota.

Great Medicine
Made From Corn Silk—Excites Favorable Comment.
Kidney and Bladder Ailments Banished By Few Doses.

Corn Silk! The same "silk" you see protruding from the husk of corn, produces a fine medicine for kidney and bladder irregularities, when compounded with other simple drugs as in Balmwort Tablets.

Balmwort Tablets contain a powerful extract of corn silk, which quickly relieves the inflammation and congestion that causes such distress as pains in back and hips, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, severe headaches, accompanied by frequent desire to eliminate, followed by scalding, burning sensation. The patient is compelled to arise frequently to relieve painful pressure, even though a scanty flow follows. The eyes appear "bloodshot," the sleep is restless, and sometimes fever, followed by chills, 'cause great unrest. It is unwise to neglect such symptoms, when a few doses of Balmwort Tablets can be taken for relief. Alloa Trobough, 8627 South Twenty-fourth street, Omaha, Neb., writes: "I have used one tube of your Balmwort Tablets and find that they are the best I have ever used for kidney and bladder trouble."

Ask any leading druggist for a tube of Balmwort Tablets. Price, $1.00.—Advertisement.

This Is Better Than Laxatives
One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrefaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminating organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

A Last Call to Baptists

The canvass for the Hundred Million Dollar Fund for the New World Movement of Northern Baptists nears completion. The last pledges will be written Sunday, May 2nd.

It looks like Victory.

The success or failure of the campaign, however, can not yet be determined.

Upon you we must depend

Only you can know whether or not you have done your duty.

There is no test but your own conscience.

In this hour of world crisis, when humanity's need surpasses that of any other day in history, a "let-the-other-fellow-do-it" spirit will not permit a man to look his own soul in the face unashamed.

Does the pledge card you have signed bear "Approved of God" in unseen writing across its face? Perhaps you will need to tear it up and sign another.

He knows the insistent cry for help that the world is raising today. He has tried to reveal it to you.

He reads your bank account and knows the extent of your prosperity. He knows what you are spending for luxury and for pleasure.

It is He who speaks through the voice of your conscience.

Does your conscience say

Approved of God?

Rupture Kills 7,000 Annually

Seven thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "Ruptured." What became the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the easy swelling of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance, or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The hold it presents retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and every truss sufferer in the land is invited to make a FREE test right in the privacy of their own home. The PLAPAO method is unquestioned the most scientific, natural and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD, when adhering closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore, cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and while you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening so nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name today to PLAPAO CO., Block 811, St. Louis, Mo., for FREE trial Plapao and the information necessary.

PREMIER MAY VISIT POPE

Balfour and Lloyd George Expected to Discuss League of Nations With Benedict

London, April 26.—At the conclusion of the conference at San Remo, Arthur J. Balfour will visit the Vatican and discuss with the Pope the operation of the League of Nations.

Premier Lloyd George is also expected to visit the Pontiff, though no definite plans have been made. Lloyd George's enormous strength in Wales is derived almost exclusively from the non-conformist elements who retain their traditional attitude toward the Roman Church, and the Prime Minister's movements in Italy will be closely watched.

The decision of the British statesman to consult the Pope on the subject of the League of Nations is declared in Rome to be a striking recognition of the power of the Vatican as a political force in Europe. The Holy See is known to be sympathetic toward the League.

EX-SERVICE MEN HEAR THE CALL OF THE OLD LIFE

Former Soldiers and Sailors Find Civil Life Too Tame. They Are Joining the Marine Corps. Combines the Desirable Features of Both Army and Navy.

If trouble starts over the border,
If a Haitian reb wants a scrap,
Should any one start a disorder
Where Uncle Sam's bossing the map—
If bad little bandits or pirates
Insist upon pulling big scenes
Don't worry or fret or get in a sweat,
Just call up and tell the Marines.

Just tell the Marines, just tell the Marines,
They'll get on the job in their scrapping jeans;
Ask 'em for trouble, and trouble you gets,
For they're not sharp points on their bayonets.
They land on their feet and they've got nine lives,
And they pack a punch in their forty-fives.

"Two battalions of Marines for immediate service in Haiti."

Not long ago that call went out from the U. S. Marine Recruiting Bureau. Within ten days those two battalions were recruited, equipped and ready to shove off. And every man in those outfits was a former soldier, sailor or Marine. They found civil life too tame. The "service" was in their blood, and they could not get it out.

Strange? Not a bit of it. Ask any one of "Jack" Pershing's gang. Ask any ex-man-o'-war's man.

Oh, yes, we all growled at

reveille and swore to murder the bugler. We all "groused" at the chow and whetted our bayonets for the cooks. Oh, yes, full packs rubbed the skin off our shoulders. Ha!—

Remember those days when we were fit as fiddles, could eat the hind leg of a table and enjoy it, could lick our weight in wildcats, and weren't afraid to say so? And remember the buddies who bunked with us, hiked with us, scrapped with us, took all our money, bummed our tobacco, called us bad names and—would give us the shirts off their backs if we asked 'em? Somehow civil life doesn't often give us friends like that. The man who has never done a hitch in the service has missed a lot, isn't that so?

And for any man who is looking for service—all sorts, kinds, conditions and varieties of service—the Marine Corps is the one best bet. The Marine is "soldier and sailor, too." When the big ships go to sea the Marines go with them. Before the Marine has a chance to get tired of sea-going he is landed at Haiti or Honolulu, China or the Philippines.

Opportunity for travel and adventure is only one of the things that the Marine Corps affords. In this branch of the service a man finds unusual facilities for physical and mental development. The Marine Corps is as far from an ordinary man into a real "husky."

And there are all manner of grades that may be learned in the corps. Every day ex-Marines are, immediately upon their discharge, stepping into well-paid civilian jobs that range from that of aviator to that of cook. And, as every one knows, an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps is the best letter of recommendation any one can have. It is, in fact, a United States Government certificate which stamps the possessor as "inspected and passed as an honest, loyal and capable man, who has learned to use his head and his hands—and use them to the best advantage."

During the war with Germany all the additional officers needed for the Marine Corps were promoted from the ranks. These officers, by their efficiency and valor, have so amply demonstrated the wisdom of developing the officer material among the enlisted men, that the system has been adopted as a permanent feature of the service. Any man who has the makings of an officer in him stands an excellent chance of rising rapidly through the non-commissioned grades of corporal and sergeant and "graduating" into a second lieutenant. After that he has the same opportunity of attaining still higher rank as any graduate of the Naval Academy.

In addition, some Marines are selected each year to take the four-year course at Annapolis, upon completion of which they are immediately commissioned second lieutenants of Marines or ensigns in the Navy.

When we remember that there is one non-commissioned officer to every seven men no one who is of average ability and apilles himself can expect to remain a private for very long.

The Marine at Work and Play

Many people have the idea that the service is a life of hard work, long hours and harsh discipline. Nothing was ever further from the truth.

There is work to be done in the Marine Corps. But it is good, healthful, outdoor work. There are short, snappy drills that make a man alert and "on the job" in mind and body. There are setting-up exercises that take inches off a man's waistline and put them on his chest. There's shooting on the rifle range—every Marine is trained to be a crack shot; there's work with wireless telegraphy and something of seamanship. It's work, but it's the sort of work men like.

There must be discipline, just as there must be laws in a community or rules in an office or factory. But the Marine discipline is of a sort that no reasonable man would object to.

Life is not all work for the Marine. There are baseball, football, boxing and swimming for the devotees of these sports. No post is without its pool tables. There is fishing and hunting. For Marines, in their travels, go where game, big and little, is plentiful and game laws are few.

Men rise on merit may, as a rule, leave their station after 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon and may remain away until reveille (5 or 7 o'clock) the following morning. Whenever a man may be conveniently absent, his commanding officer has authority to grant him a ten-day furlough, plus the time required to travel to and return from his home town.

The Marine Corps desires to give young men from all parts of the country an opportunity of enlisting in the service for two, three or four years. The local recruiting office has no more vacancies in its quota for especially good men. It may be that you are the sort of man they are looking for. Don't hesitate to call and talk things over. It will put you under no obligation. You will not be urged to enlist. But you CAN learn the truth about the Marine Corps from men who know the life and like it well enough to stay in. Send for booklet.

Alice Nielsen Will Sing Here May 2

ALICE NIELSEN.

Alice Nielsen, for several seasons the soprano star of the Boston Opera Company, returns to this city in concert at Symphony Hall, Sunday evening, May 2.

Miss Nielsen, after a retirement of two seasons, due to her marriage to a well known specialist of New York, has been giving concerts all over the United States this year with remarkable success. Her tour of the Pacific coast was a series of ovations, and all who have heard her declare that her voice is as fresh and youthful as it was ten years ago. Her Boston concert is under the auspices of the School Nurses' Association.

It is a remarkable fact that a Boston singing teacher physician, who is now located in New York, is responsible for the rejuvenation of Alice Nielsen's voice, and also the voices of Lydia Lipkowska and George Hackett, the Russian singers. He is Dr. Daniel Sullivan, who practiced medicine in this city for some years, was well known as a bass singer, and finally established himself in New York as a voice teacher. He now has half a dozen famous opera singers among his pupils.

SHOE MEN TO REFER ALL WAGE DEMANDS TO STATE

Massachusetts shoe manufacturers have decided to grant no further increase in wages to shoe operatives, at the requests of labor unions, until their requests are first made to the State Board of Arbitration, states the latest issue of Current Affairs, the weekly of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. The manufacturers have taken this action on the ground that they must protect consumers from any further increase in shoe prices.

BANK DEPOSITS DROP 1 BILLION

Experts Believe Figures Reflect Economic and Financial Trend of Nation

Washington, April 26.—A shrinkage of almost $1,000,000,000 in the bank deposits of the country, with a commensurate shrinkage in the total resources of the national banks, is noted in a compilation by Comptroller of the Currency Williams of the reports of the national banks on the call of February 23.

Total deposits in the national banks February 23 were $16,865,122,000, a reduction in just two months from December 31 of $901,231,000. The December 31 deposits, however, were slightly under the highest ever recorded and the deposits for February 23 were $1,500,000,000 greater than for approximately the same date a year ago.

Government experts here see a deep significance in the figures as reflecting the financial and economic trend of the nation. After increasing in great jumps from the very beginning of the European War and practically doubling in six years, Bank deposits began to decrease at the end of last year. In the first two months of 1920 the decrease was rapid and if maintained and if maintained will bring the 1920 figures below those of 1919.

Hollweg Denies Force Drew Austria In

By International News Service.

Berlin, April 26.—Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor of 1914, has made an emphatic denial that Germany influenced Austria to adopt a war-like attitude in the fateful Summer months that saw the outbreak of the world war. The ex-Chancellor's answer to his accusers is in the new "White Book," containing the findings of the commission investigating Germany's war guilt.

Germany was only interested in maintaining Austria's great power in Central Europe," said his statement.

Prince Lichnowsky, former ambassador to England, insisted that the German military attache at Vienna influenced Austria's policy at the instigation of the Berlin military clique.

GILCHRIST CO.

THE STORE OF PROGRESS, BOSTON 2

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A BUSINESS man filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was 53%. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is —less than we spend for daily papers
—less than a local telephone call
—less than a third of the day's car fare
—less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty great denominations. They have surveyed their whole task; no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men and women who love America—to you—this week, asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be. The chart printed here is intended merely as a suggestion; it represents a scale of giving of 6%—or less.

Six per cent of your earning power; 15/16ths of your life for your own family needs, and 1 16th for your fellow men—is that more than you ought to give?

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better is the world going to be because you passed through?

ALEX CAMPBELL TO REPRESENT BOSTON ON LINKS THIS YEAR

GOLF PRO REFUSES SEVERAL FLATTERING OFFERS

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Alex Campbell, will represent Boston in open golf competition this year. After exchanging telegrams and letters with a number of members of clubs which sought the services of the well-known Scotch professional, Alex decided that he would remain at the Boston Golf Shop this Summer, giving lessons, making clubs and taking part in as many open tournaments and exhibition matches as possible.

Alex will go to Washington this week where he will play an exhibition match Sunday with Fred McLeod, the North and South open champion, and two others who have not been named. Alex has been outdoors a number of times this year and has his game in good working order. He expects to make a good showing in all the tournaments he starts in.

None of the professional players are more congenial than Alex and he has gained many new friends since he returned to Boston after four years spent as professional at the Baltimore Country Club. Alex is far from being a stranger in Boston, for he was professional at the Country Club, Brookline, for sixteen years. He came to America when he was nineteen years old, from Troon, Scotland, where he had won a wide reputation as a golfer.

Alex has not missed an open championship since he has been in America and plans on being at Toledo this year for the event. He finished third in the open 1907 at Philadelphia and fourth at Buffalo. He won the Eastern open championship at Brooklina in 1906, and has finished in the money in the open, many times.

Bobby Jones' Record on Atlanta Course

Bobby Jones, as might be expected, holds the record for the East Lake course of the Atlanta Athletic Club. Although the par of the course is 72, Bob's record is 68. He made it shooting with Willie Ogg, the club professional. The distance of the holes and Bobby's card:

More to Compete in British Amateur

John O. Anderson says that it is probable that in addition to Bob Gardner, Grant Peacock and Nelson Whitney, who have already announced their intention to play in the British amateur championship at Muirfield, there will be Marston, Sam Graham and F. C. Newton, the Massachusetts team captain, may go. He also says it would not be a complete surprise to him if Chick Evans decided to jump over at the last minute.

Francis Ouimet was not the only one of the top amateurs who brushed up on Southing golf the past week. Chick Evans made a long visit to one of the resorts where he played golf every day, although avoiding tournament competition, and Davidson Herron played two rounds of golf in Texas. Bobby Jones kept his hand in on his own course in Atlanta.

The late Spring made it necessary for Park Commissioner Hennessy of the Brookline parks to open up the public golf links at Van Cortland Park.

Open Tournaments in Rhode Island

Open tournaments on the Spring schedule for Rhode Island golf clubs follow: May 29, Winnesuket; May 31, Pawtucket; June 5, Wannamoisett; June 12, Rhode Island C. C.; State championship, June 12 and 26. The Fall schedule will be announced later.

The Olympic golf competition will be limited to teams of six men each.

Belmont Spring Country Club will probably be the first course over which Harry Vardon and Ted Ray will play upon their arrival in the United States from England and they will have as opposition Massachusetts' crack amateur team composed of Francis Ouimet and Jesse Guilford.

Telephone to the Wollaston Golf Club for starting time in the qualifying round of the three-day tournament which starts Thursday. This will be the first medal and match play event of the season.

The Woman's Golf Association will have an eighteen-hole handicap medal play tournament Thursday at the Chestnut Hill Golf Club.

High Scoring Rule in Saturday

Cold winds and wet courses produced high scores in many of the club tournaments held Saturday. A number of events postponed scheduled events. Conditions were such that there was very low scoring. Winners at the various clubs were:

Cossack Wrestler to Battle Zbyszko at Mechanics Hall Tonight

Wrestling fans appear to be in line for another treat tonight in Mechanics Building, when another of the very popular and satisfying international carnivals will be staged by Promoter Tuohey. The pairing will be as follows: Cyclone Burns vs. George Manick, Jim Londos vs. Bob Brown, and Waldek Zbyszko vs. Ivan Linow, the Cossack. All matches are to a one-fall finish without time limit, under American Association rules. The first pair will be called at 8:15 sharp, new time, and there will be no waits between the events.

The pairings bring together men of even weight and class, and while the Londos-Brown bout will furnish the fastest work of the night, the Linow-Zbyszko session will be full of "pepper" because of the feeling between the men. Manich comes back after an absence of two years, and on his last appearance here gave Burns the merriest battle the old master has had in many years.

SOX AND A'S IN FIRST JOUST

Boston Players Confident as Series in Philadelphia Is Begun

Philadelphia, April 26.—In no way downcast over their 2 to 0 defeat in the final joust with the Senators Washington today the Red Sox were preparing to take on the Athletics today in the first of a four-game series just as though they had cleaned up in Washington instead of going down before mighty Walter Johnson, 2 to 0.

The impression that had crept abroad that the Red Sox were lacking in punch was hardly borne out in the Washington series. While in the Nation's Capital the Bostonians grabbed off forty-three hits to the Senators' thirty-two. Some showing for a team that is supposed to be deficient in hitting power and quite enough to make the Red Sox dangerous in the flag race this year.

The breaks all went to Washington in the last battle, the ground balls the Senators hit all taking bad bounds and being quite frequently converted into safe drives, but at that the Griffmen had to go some to win out and were mighty lucky to have made the two runs they did. These proved one more than the necessary margin as Walter Johnson was in his best pitching mood after he once got under way and the Red Sox never had a fair chance to score. Four of the seven hits off Johnson came in the first three innings but after that the big fellow found himself and held the foemen in the hollow of his pitching hand.

Joe Bush pitched plenty well enough to win an ordinary ball game and showed the world that he can go the full route in tidy fashion. To say that Manager Barrow was pleased at the speed ball pitcher's showing is to put it very mildly.

For today's tilt with the Mackmen Barrow had Allen Russell ready, while Scott Perry looked like the man Connie Mack would start. Russell showed well in the warming up period so it looked like one of the old time pitching duels which used to feature the Sox-Athletics series back in the days when these clubs were the flag contenders and most all the others were also rans.

BRAVES TAKE ON PHILS TODAY

Latter Have Shown Surprising Punch and Top Tribe in Standing

By NICK FLATLEY.

With the official opening of the home season off their minds, and with promises of some real baseball weather in the immediate future, the Braves prepared to start anew their campaign for glory by assaulting the Phillies at the Home of Big Winds. They entertain Cactus Cravath and his henchmen for four days, and then turn their attention to the Dodgers, who have trouble coming to them, for the hapless manner in which they treated the aspiring Boston athletes over in Flatbush a short time back.

Braves and Phillies haven't clashed as yet in the youthful year, but as the Quakers are one notch higher in the standing of the clubs than the local entry, the Braves have something to shoot at. The invaders have won four and lost as many, while the natives have garnered their first pair from the Giants, and lost the remaining quartet that the weather let them get in.

The Braves, with Gowdy back in form, and Eayrs recovered from his cold, are now ready to present their strongest lineup, and were anxious to have a good week and win the favor of the Boston populace. They realize that the frigid conditions Saturday did not give them a chance to show their real class, and that they will be judged more by what they do in the next few days than by what has become history.

Phillies Have Shown Surprising Punch

These Phillies, lowly rated before the season, have furnished surprising punch in their games to date, and like the Braves are not at all satisfied that the best they can do is keep out of the cellar. They are toting several slugging players around the world, but have as well several veterans of the star class—Stengel, Bancroft and Williams for instance.

Stallings had Fillingim, his star pitcher, ready to open today's festivities, though several others were anxious to pitch, provided the day was fine for the use of the slippery finger. John Paul Jones has rounded into form and is likely to get a shot at Grimes sometime shortly. The way Scott went through the Giants, after he got started Saturday, surprised and encouraged the Boston leader, and the long Virginian has now been looked on as a regular spot in the hurling programme.

Big Eppa Rixey, who southpawed the Giants into a one-hit shut-out a few days back, is at his best right now, which means that he's as good as any left-hander in the game. Eppa is sure to be tossed at the Braves in one of the games of the present series, and he is elected to start things if his wing felt equal to the job.

CANADIAN SEVEN IN OLYMPIC TITLE MATCH

Antwerp, April 26.—The Canadian and Swedish hockey teams meet tonight in the finals for the Olympic Championships. The Canadian outfit showed championship form in defeating the American hockey team which so easily handed the Swiss team a drubbing in their game the night before. The wearers of the Maple Leaf fought the Yanks a rugged fight throughout the game and managed to score the only two points of the game in the last five minutes to play.

SHARKEY PICKED TO WIN BOUT

Battles Abe Friedman at the Triple A—Wilde to Train at Lawrence

By JACK CONWAY.

Jack Sharkey has been made a 10 to 9 favorite in the early betting for his twelve-round bout with Abe Friedman which will be decided at Mechanics Building tomorrow night under the direction of the Armory A. A.

There is a great deal of interest in the match as the boys are classed with the world's leading bantamweights. Sharkey proved his class when he defeated Jimmy Wilde at Milwaukee, while Friedman has won his last three starts. He has beaten Roy Moore, Chick Hayes and Marty Collins by brilliant boxing and clean, hard hitting.

The rival boxers were booked to engage in light workouts today. Both are down below 120 pounds, which is the weight at which they will scale in at tomorrow night at 9 o'clock.

So that all the fans may have an opportunity to see this near title battle the Armory Club is staging the show at popular prices of admission. This means that the affair will be witnessed by a record breaking crowd.

Wilde to Finish Training at Lawrence

Jimmy Wilde is due in Lawrence early this week to complete training for his twelve-round contest with Bobby Dyson, which will be staged by Johnny Cuddy at his open air arena Saturday afternoon. The fact that no decision will be rendered has not injured interest in the match. Wilde says he would gladly fight for a decision if a contract be signed with English promoters before coming to America permitted him to do so. Nobody doubts but that if the bout goes the limit Wilde would win the decision if one were given. Dyson's chance for a victory is by a knock-out.

The New England bantamweight champion is busy training at Lawrence. He feels sure he will win international fame by putting over the big wallop. He points to the fact that Battling Tommy Murray of Philadelphia scored a knockdown in his tussle with Wilde last week, Dyson hits no harder than Murray, if he lands with one of his full left hand swings, Wilde will probably hit the canvas.

Donivan Bows to Brockton Crowd

K. O. Mickey Donivan will make his debut as a professional performer at Brockton Friday night when he clashes with Woonsocket Joe Gibbs in the main bout. Donivan has been coming to the front with a rush and feels sure he will dispose of the hard hitting cobbler. Tony Ross of Brighton and Tommy Flanigan of New Bedford will meet in the semi-final of eight rounds. Barney McAtee of Brockton and Jimmy Donahue of Brockton will box eight frames, while Cyclone Campbell of Brockton and Dick Ramgrae of Weymouth will travel the six-round distance. It looks as though it will be a show of action.

In these days when everybody is talking profiteering, high cost of living, increased wage, etc., etc., this is a startling proposition.

Bought on the new price today these goods are easily worth twice what I am asking for them, and I show a reduction in price from last week, when all signs point to increased cost on clothing.

With this range of absolutely all-wool and silk fabrics, I offer you 150 styles of ends of suitings, some two pieces, some three pieces; some sold as high in my store as $35 and $40; some absolutely all wool, some with a percentage of cotton. They include serges, worsteds, cassimeres and all the different effects that no other tailor advertises under $35 to $40.

WHEN HEARTS ARE TRUMPS

Barbara Page, Orphan, Is the Young and Beautiful Heroine in This New Serial of Romantic Interest

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

Author of Nation-Wide Reputation and Writer of Popular Novels and Short Stories.

CHAPTER I.

MISS CYNTHIA PAIGE, spinster of an uncertain age, stood in the bay window of the homestead on Walnut street, Summerfield, gazing after the departing figure of her niece, Barbara Paige.

Miss Cynthia was uneasy. Last evening Robert—once a Summerfield boy, now in business in New York—called on Barbara.

Miss Cynthia had been forced to acknowledge to her unwilling self that the young man was looking prosperous and attractive. She supposed the quality he possessed was what is termed "magnetism." But she had steeled her heart against his charm.

"It is good to get back to dear old Summerfield and to see you again," he had declared, grasping her thin hand.

A shade of disappointment crossed his face as she replied politely, but formally.

"Thank you. I should fancy, however, that you are becoming so much of a New Yorker that you would find Summerfield a rather dull place."

"I like New York immensely," he admitted. "But Summerfield holds the people I have known all my life, so, naturally, I love it."

Miss Cynthia had noted that Barbara's cheeks grew a shade pinker. The girl had looked very pretty last night, and had been rather distrait today—although so gentle in her manner that her aunt could find no fault with her.

Of course, the woman mused, Barbara's uncle Arthur would never find fault with his darling niece. He had spoiled her ever since her dying father had trusted the mother in the old home.

"She is the light of Arthur's eyes," the maiden aunt reflected ruefully. "Arthur is all I have—and I have given my life to looking out for him. Yet he considers me less than he does Barbara. It is not fair."

Perhaps it was not fair. At any rate, Cynthia, with her jealous nature, felt that it was not.

The Love of Money

The love of money jaundices one's views, and she loved money. Not that she longed for a great deal of it, but she contended that she had a right to all that Arthur owned or earned—after he had provided for what he needed for himself—and for years Arthur had agreed with her.

While Barbara was young, the thought of money had not obtruded, and all had been peaceful. Now, however, that the girl was through school, matter bore a different aspect.

Arthur insisted that his niece dress well and "have what other girls had." All this meant greater expenditures than Cynthia approved of. She wished that Barbara might become fond of an earner. That her brother did not agree with her distressed her.

It would be well if Barbara married—although at first they would miss her from the homestead. Yet, Cynthia sighed, it would be good to be alone here with Arthur, and to have him consider the comfort of nobody but his sister!

Still, if Barbara made the mistake of marrying a poor man, Arthur would continue to provide the girl with luxuries—might even lend a helping hand to her husband.

Much thought on these matters had moved Miss Cynthia Paige to encourage the attentions of John Brandon—a well-to-do bachelor of fifty years of age, who, of late, had shown himself much attracted by Barbara's dark eyes and piquant face.

Barbara had liked him enough to go driving with him and to accept his gifts of flowers and bonbons—much to her maiden aunt's delight.

And now Robert Elliot had complicated matters by appearing in Summerfield for a short visit, and making a long call in the Paige home last night!

This evening, Daisy Greenwood—Barbara's most intimate friend and chum—was to have a little dinner party, followed by a small dance. Only girls were to be at the dinner, to which Barbara was to go early. Of course, young Elliot would be at the dance and equally of course he would bring the girl home.

A Pertinent Question

Aunt Cynthia had ascertained this last fact by asking her niece bluntly how she was to get back from the Greenwoods.

"I am sure your uncle will suggest going for you," she remarked. "But it is hardly fair to expect him to do that—for you may be out late. I think I will advise him to have a cab from the livery stable call for you at a certain hour—say about eleven o'clock, or even half past eleven."

"That will not be necessary." Barbara hastened to explain. "Bob Elliot will see that I get home safely."

"Did he ask if he might act as your escort?" Miss Cynthia questioned.

"Yes," was the brief reply. But something in the voice showed that back of the answer was more than appeared on the surface.

Miss Cynthia was alarmed. Affairs were being taken out of her hands. She must utter a word of warning.

"Dear child," she cautioned, "do not feel that Robert Elliot may make a goose of himself about you. He is very young, with no established business—but only prospects. At his age, one pretty face soon drives out the memory of another."

"Moreover, Barbara, it would not be fair, after all your uncle has done and is doing for you, if you were to accept a man who could not provide for you. For if you did, your poor uncle would deem it his duty to keep you in luxury for you—even after your marriage."

Instead of replying, Barbara Raised her aunt swiftly. "Good-by, Auntie," she murmured, "it is time I was off!" Then she ran down the stairs and from the house.

CHAPTER II.

Copyright, 1920, by Star Company.

HAD Miss Cynthia Paige known what had happened during Robert Elliot's call on her niece last night, she would have been even more worried than she was now.

Three years ago young Elliot had taken a position in New York. In his mind had lingered the hope that he would some time return to Summerfield and claim for his girl the home he would marry. He had not put this into words even to himself. Much less had he admitted that the girl was Barbara Paige.

For the past year each trip to his native town had confirmed him in the conviction that neither New York nor any other city had ever developed a girl quite as lovely as the little girl he had known since her childhood. She was six years his junior, and when he was a boy he had thought of her as one of "the kid set."

Now he found himself deeply in love with this same "kid."

He had a code that warned him that he had no right to declare his love until he had some prospect of being able to marry. So only his eyes had betrayed his hopes.

But now matters were different. His income was more than it must be if he would marry, but he had been promoted to a responsible position and saw ahead of him the point where he would have an income on which two could live without overmuch self-denial.

He had not imparted all this to Barbara last night. But when Miss Cynthia had left the young couple together Robert had spoken very frankly of his prospects.

"I am going to make good, Bab," he had announced. "Wish me luck, please."

"I do," she said, so earnestly that his heart beat fast with happiness. "I am sure, Bob, that you will get to be a great financier."

He had laughed at her speech, but there was a note of triumphant joy in the laugh.

Much Encouraged

"Hardly that, Bab," he had answered. "Yet, after having worked as hard as I have for the past three years it does make a fellow feel pretty fine to see that he is getting on. It was awfully slow and trying at first—and I almost got discouraged. But now I can see that it was all worth while."

"I am glad," she said genuinely. Then, with a shade of regret, "Of course, that means that you will always live in New York, doesn't it?"

Perhaps so. But no, it does not either," he contradicted himself impulsively. "I have a dream that sometime, when I am a good deal older, I may buy a house up here in Summerfield and come here to spend my vacations and my Summers."

She smiled faintly. "I suppose that will not be for a very long while though."

"No, of course, not until I am really a prosperous financier," he laughed. "And, anyway," his face sobering, "not until I have a wife to make a home for."

"What's In a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Copyright, 1920, The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

KATHERINE

LIKE Mary, the charming name of Katherine has an almost illimitable history, and its derivations and contractions are endless. It signifies pure, since it was first borne by a maiden martyr, whose name was chosen as the centre of an allegory of intellectual religion. Katherine is a Greek became Catharina in the Latin tongue. Going further back, it can be found that this martyred Katherine was a virgin martyr of Alexandria, whose history is unknown. Some historians credit her with being the daughter of a King of Egypt, but this contention cannot be substantiated. However it is, Katherine's purity and sanctity are unmistakable.

Copyright by Harris & Ewing

The martyrdom of the original Katherine is recorded in literature and are—the destruction of the wheels that were to have torn her asunder; her martyrdom by the sword and the translation of her body by angels to Mount Sinai, at whose foot stands a convent bearing her name (one could not provide for you. For if you did, your poor uncle would deem it his duty to keep you in luxury for you—even after your marriage."

Instead of replying, Barbara Raised her aunt swiftly. "Good-by, Auntie," she murmured, "it is time I was off!" Then she ran down the stairs and from the house.

Local Market Starts Forward and Retains Tone; Curb Has Upward Trend

Strength prevailed on the Boston Exchange at the opening and trading was of fair volume during the morning. The market showed its good tone. Among other stocks to advance a point or more were Copper Range, United Fruit, West End, Pacific Mills and Swift & Co. Smaller gains were made by National Lead, Utah Copper, Hill, Elder, East Butte, Isle Royale, Osceola, Ventura, Waldorf, Gray & Davis and New Cornelia.

Quincy receded a point, but recovered the loss. Fractional declines were sustained by American Woolen preferred, United Drug first preferred and Shattuck.

CURB PRICES RULE HIGHER.

The week began on the Curb with better support for leaders. It had a firm tone at the opening and the morning trend was onward. Black Hawk, Imperial and Homa Oil were active. Stocks advanced at the opening included Arizona Silver, Red Warrior, Simms Petroleum, Submarine Boat and Allied Oil. Among those to recede were Imperial, Mutual Trust, Silver Reef, White Oil and Liberty Oil.

Buy $350,000 Bond Issue

Announcement is made of the purchase through their Boston office by S. W. Straus & Co. of an issue of $350,000 first mortgage bonds secured by a new apartment house at No. 30 Chestnut street. The apartment house was constructed on an architectural design by Richard Arnold Fisher in the Beacon Hill district adjoining the Esplanade. The arrangements make "The 101 Chestnut street first mortgage 6 per cent bonds are the first high class real estate offering that S. W. Straus & Co., which has purchased within the past year more than $20,000,000 of first mortgage bonds secured by developments in other cities. The active interest of this concern in Boston realty construction, both in office buildings and apartments, should materially lessen the present building shortage. The 101 Chestnut street first mortgage bonds are the obligation of the Somerset Realty Company, of which Clement M. Burnhome is president and Albert G. Thomb is treasurer.

Calumet & Hecla Report

The report of the Calumet & Hecla Mining Company for the year 1919 showed an earning of $3,103,421 as compared before depletion and taxes but after depreciation. For 1918 and 1917 respectively the company reported net of $42.49 and $32.67. Dividend disbursements last year amounted to $10. The report for 1919 was said to be unfavorable as figures might indicate no revenue as figured only upon 37,977,037 pounds of copper delivered whereas production amounted to 52,-520,146. The operating account, in fact, is charged with the entire costs while only about half of the metal produced was sold and delivered.

IT'S WHITE AND $1.20

One of the questions which is constantly being asked about NEW SAFETY PAPER is "What makes it go up?" The common sense answer is: BECAUSE THE BUYING IS BETTER THAN THE SELLING. This means that investigation discloses sound reasons for the increasing value. In other words, the earning power of New Safety Paper is the fundamental reason why it goes up. If it were otherwise, the price would go down, and that wouldn't be WHITE.

NEW SAFETY PAPER is one of the enterprises which is free from all manipulation and artificial influences—IT'S WHITE. It is being financed by "small capital," as distinguished from Big Business, on lines which should bring the small shareholder the same large earnings that are now obtained by Big Capital on its original investments. That's why IT'S WHITE.

The secret of money making is the proper exercise of both judgment and surplus funds, after personal investigation.

From the funds in hand, NEW SAFETY PAPER has an earning power of 30c a share the first year. That is why it should be worth much more than $1.20. Additional funds are now being raised for an increased equipment to handle ascertained business, which would increase the earning power three times.

There is a limited allotment of shares to be sold at $1.20. When they are gone another allotment becomes available. In the meantime the money paid in increases the earning capacity beyond 30c a share. That's why it goes up—and IT'S WHITE.

Over 800 satisfied shareholders are behind NEW SAFETY PAPER and all have accrued values ranging from 9% in 2 weeks to 140% in 15 months. Ask any of them and they will tell you that IT'S WHITE.

Come on in, the Paper's WHITE.

WORLD SUFFERS FROM BEET SUGAR SHORTAGE

The sugar shortage which has sent prices on the highest level known in a half century is due to curtailment of beet sugar productions in Europe. Owing to the war the world has had to depend upon the cane product. It used to furnish 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 more tons of sugar. Production from the beet aggregated 9,700,000 tons in the year before the war, and at the end of the struggle had decreased to 3,610,000 tons. Cane sugar production has been greatly increased, but trade experts say that it cannot be expanded sufficiently to meet the world's demand. Sugar will be scarce and high until Europe has rehabilitated its beet sugar industry.

More Gold for South America

More gold is to be shipped from New York to South America on Wednesday, it is understood. The amount has not been stated but tentative engagements to export $12,000,000 were made last week. Part of the coin is to have been forwarded on Saturday last but the shipment was postponed.

Cotton Market

New York, April 26.—Cotton market opening, based on weather reports, advanced about $5.00 per bale on active months and lower in May, but after positions were 17 to 30 points higher. Buying on short covering and scattered trade generally advanced new crop months 50 to 60 points over Saturday's close and the list at the end of the first hour was 40 to 50 points higher. Opening prices: July, 28.40; October, 24.60; December, 24.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, April 26.—The sub-treasury gained $5,875,000 from banks on balances today, making the cash net gain since Friday $7,420,000.

MOTOR ISSUES ARE STRONG

Steel and Sugar Shares Leaders in the Upswing; Coppers and Rails Firm

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at the opening and trading was of fair volume during the morning. After a slight reaction due to profit taking near the end of the forenoon prices were near the highest. Motors were a strong group, while gains were made by sugars. Steels advanced as a class and some several points. Rails improved in the latter part of the morning. Coppers were steady and higher. Trading was of good volume, first hour transactions totalling more than 300,000 shares. Call money renewed at 7 per cent. In the foreign exchange market demand sterling was lower, francs steady and five a little below last week's final quotation.

PRICES UP AT OPENING.

Prices were up at the opening, gains being general. Sugars and motors were strongest as groups, with the former averaging about two points higher in the early movement. Motors were still stronger. General Motors, as usual, advanced the most. It started with more than six points advance. Steels showed small gains on initial transactions and increased them. Oils moved forward moderately, excepting Southern Petroleum, which began four points above its Saturday closing figure. Western railroads were strong over, and there was better buying by the public than has been observed for more than a week. But strength was due in the main to covering by shorts. No selling pressure was discerned when this week began. On the contrary, stocks seemed to be in scanty supply. Consolidated Textile sold at a new record high during the first hour. Among strongest issues were Republic, Stromberg and Kelly Springfield.

INTERESTED IN U. S. STEEL.

As usual, there is great interest in all quarters as to the showing the U. S. Steel Corporation will make in its report as to earnings for the first quarter of this year. Around Broad and Wall there is expectation that the coming statement will be the most favorable the corporation has made in more than a year. Recent remarks by Judge Gary diminished hope of an extra disbursement, but many persons still expect that the rate will be increased.

The New York bank statement was satisfactory, reporting an increase of $11,867,130 in surplus reserve. The report by Federal Reserve banks showed no improvement in reserve ratio. While the system being but 42 per cent, as compared with 43 per cent the week before. The standing of Western banks was rather unfavorable, as there was no improvement, the ratio being 52.8 per cent, against 49.3, while the New York banks advanced from 41.2 to 42.1 ratio, in fact, showed the largest ratio of credit reserves to deposit and Federal Reserve note liabilities of any of the twelve reserve banks.

Farm Labor Needed

The lack of enough labor on farms is likely to cause hunger in cities, according to Secretary of Agriculture. To produce crops, having a supply only 72 per cent. of normal. High wages are offered, but the call is for the inflated agricultural laborers by the tens of thousands from the fields. Secretary of Agriculture Meredith appeals to collegians and city men to devote their vacations to working on farms.

Capital Enlargements

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co. stockholders voted to increase capital stock from $60,000,000 to $120,000,000. The new stock, which is to be issued at par, is to be paid for at the rate of $10 each, are to be issued by the directors as they shall determine.

Stockholders of the New Jersey Zinc Company will vote May 15 on a proposition to increase capital from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000. Holders of record May 15 will be entitled to subscribe to the new stock at par on the basis of 2 per cent. present holdings

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Mr. Palmer's Appeal for the President; Verdict of a Democratic State

Attorney-General Palmer, in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for President, made this extraordinary statement, according to the press reports of his speech in Georgia:

When I saw President Wilson attacked and vilified and NO ONE willing to defend him, I determined to carry the flag of Woodrow Wilson to the people.

The capitals are ours. We think the Attorney-General greatly exaggerated the facts, just as he greatly exaggerated the facts in his statement to all the Washington correspondents some days ago, when he said that the railroad men, in their recent unorganized, illegal strike, were led by Lenin and were seeking to overthrow the Government of the United States. He attributed the strike plan to Foster, who led the steel strike.

It is astounding to us that the Attorney-General of the United States, who, of all men, should be well informed on such matters, should know so many things that are not so.

That a member of the Cabinet should admit or assert publicly that "no one" is willing to defend the President is, so far as we know, unprecedented in American politics.

Georgia, as strongly a Democratic State as any in the Union, delivered in the primaries last Tuesday the verdict of a Democratic community on the Treaty of Peace and the League of Nations proposed by a Democratic President.

The three candidates in the field were Attorney-General Palmer, who stood explicitly for President Wilson and his peace treaty without amendment; Senator Hoke Smith, one of the "elder statesmen" of the Democratic party, a member of President Cleveland's Cabinet, who stood as frankly opposed to the President's foreign policies and in favor of ratification of the peace treaty "with American amendments," which Mr. Wilson forbids, and Thomas E. Watson, whose sole platform was opposition to Mr. Wilson, opposition to the League of Nations, and REJECTION of the entire peace treaty of Versailles. The result of the vote was:

Watson	51,974
Palmer	48,460
Senator Smith	45,568

In other words, this purely Democratic community, which has always stood by Democratic Presidents, whether right or wrong, voted:

For President Wilson	48,460
Against President Wilson	97,542

Thus the first "solemn referendum" of the people of a Democratic community on Mr. Wilson's pact results in a verdict of more than TWO TO ONE AGAINST HIM BY DEMOCRATIC VOTERS.

But Attorney-General Palmer erred when he said that "no one" is willing to defend Mr. Wilson. It is true that nearly all of the men whom the President himself chose as his closest friends and admirers a few years ago no longer sympathize with him or defend his course because they feel that he has abandoned the policies and principles on which he won his election.

When he formulated the ideals of democracy three years ago, the whole world endorsed his winged words and President Wilson became, after the armistice, the most powerful figure in modern history.

Mr. Wilson was not forsaken by the lovers of liberty and democracy. He forsook them and, like all those who abandon their friends, or hold only with ropes of sand friends they have, he has found no new friends.

Only seven Democratic Senators favored amendments to Mr. Wilson's league covenant when it was first voted on in the Senate, but after months of discussion SEVENTEEN Democratic Senators—more than a third of the entire Democratic party in the Senate—voted to "Americanize" it.

No President, however, wielding such great power and patronage as he does can ever be without followers or defenders, or lack obedient political servants to do his bidding.

Democratic Senators who think the machine everything and the moral sense of the people illusory in politics support the President in this matter because they are too timid to face the false charge that they are unfaithful to the party.

As Senator Owen, co-author of our banking law, and one of the ablest friends of the President in his earlier policies, said in the Senate just before the amended treaty came to a vote:

I do not believe there is a single Democratic Senator who would not vote for this (Americanized) resolution of ratification if the President of the United States had not urged them to defeat it.

Instead of "no one," as the Attorney-General said, twenty-nine out of ninety-six Senators followed blindly Mr. Wilson's autocratic, undemocratic will.

In Justice to Mr. McCall

Those familiar with the independence of former Governor McCall in public matters will pay no attention to the charges or suggestions that in the present campaign he is being manipulated, controlled or dominated by Mr. Lawson or anyone else. We may differ with Mr. McCall in his judgment of men or policies, but we recall no action of his long public service which would lend any support to this absurd chattering. In fact, his refusal when Governor to bend to the kept wing of the Republican party might account for these silly mouthings which are made so near the close of the campaign.

More Truth Than Poetry

The Unreasonable Veteran

By S. E. KISER

HE seemed to need the comfort of a meal,
His face was thin and he had weary eyes;
It was his limp, I think, that made me feel
The pang I made no effort to disguise.
His limp and much-worn army overcoat
Made explanations needless on his part;
I had a tightened feeling in my throat
And yielded to the impulse in my heart.

I ASKED him, while he ate, where he had fought
And all about the wound that made him lame.
He seemed resentful and inclined, I thought,
To sneer at people whom he did not name.
"Oh, yes, I've got a job," he said; "they let Me rustle boxes in a dusty loft—
For nearly half the pay I used to get—
You see they haven't failed to make it soft!"

"BUT," I reminded him, "you can't forget
The lasting glory of those days in France;
Remember that the world is in your debt,
You did not falter when you had your chance.
If things now seem to be amiss, you still
Have priceless memories that will not fade;
For you there is the never-ceasing thrill
One claims who faces duty, unafraid.

"AND be assured that for your sacrifice
Full payment will be made some day, somehow;
A grateful nation will not grudge the price—
Why worry over little troubles now?
Democracy is saved, the future glows
With promises of peace, and all is well!"
With efforts that were painful he arose
And buttoned up his coat and answered "Hell!"

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—Last October a mocking bird came here to our ranch and we liked him and he must have liked us, for he has stayed around here ever since, and he sings to us all day, first from the ridge of the house, then from the top of the barn, or from a fruit tree or from the strawberry patch. But his favorite place is on a little wooden ball that daddy put on top of my playhouse.

And now the linnets are here building their nests in the rose bushes on the playhouse and in the blackberry bush that runs up on the back of the house. And one is trying to build on a brace under the eaves. And yesterday when mother was in the yard with Norman the mocking bird was on the ridge right over the place where the linnets were trying to build under the eaves. The mother bird would get a piece of something in her bill and fly toward the nest, and the mocking bird would fly at her and chase her away. Then all at once the daddy bird would draw the attention of the mocking bird and the mocking bird would dart away after the daddy bird, and the mother bird would fly to the nest.

Now, don't you think that if this mocking bird had a wife and a home of his own that he would leave the other birds alone? And this is where you can help us. You travel around a lot, and, Dear K. C. B., if you ever happen to see a lonesome lady mocking bird won't you please tell her that on our ranch at Newark, Cal., there is a nice husband waiting for her?

JUNE L. BROWN.

MY DEAR June.
AND JUST suppose.
I SHOULD happen to find.
A LADY mocking bird.
WHO HADN'T any husband.
AND I should tell her.
THAT I'D had a letter.
FROM A young lady.
WHO WAS a friend.
OF A gentleman mocking bird.
WHO HADN'T any wife.
AND THE lady mocking bird.
WOULD WANT to know.
IF I had his telephone number.
OR WHERE he lived.
AND I should tell her.
AND SHE'D fly away.
TO YOUR ranch.
AND MARRY your bird.
AND AFTER that.
THAT YOUR bird.
WOULD STILL run around.
AFTER THE other birds.
I ASK you, June.
WHAT WOULD I say.
IF THE lady bird.
SHOULD COME back to me.
AND SAY:
"THAT WAS some mess.
"YOU STEERED me into.
"THAT BIRD'S an opera singer."
"HE'S NOT a husband."
AND, ANYWAY, June.
I DON'T know a mocking bird.
WHEN I see one.
AND ALL I can do.
IS PASS your letter along.
SO THE word may go forth.
THAT A girl named June.
SEEKS AN April bride.
FOR A mocking bird.
WHO'S A very bad bird.
AND SHE wants him reformed.
WHICH HAS often been tried.
AND SOMETIMES works.
AND SOMETIMES fails.

I THANK you.

H. R. 13261.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

March 25, 1920.

Mr. Fuller of Massachusetts introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Expenditures in the Post Office Department and ordered to be printed.

A BILL

To provide for weekly pay days for postal employees.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That, effective immediately after the passage of this Act, all postal employees of the United States of America shall be placed on a weekly pay roll basis and shall receive compensation each and every week for services rendered the Government of said United States.

Editor Boston American:

I enclose a copy of Congressman Fuller's bill to "to provide for weekly pay days for postal employes" and request that you give the bill and this letter such publicity as you deem advisable. It may surprise you to learn that postal employes are paid twice a month, instead of weekly. We realize our pay is very "weak," but "weak" as our pay may be, we absolutely need these "weak" pay days to be made "weekly." The present method of payment is a positive hardship to the great majority of postal workers, as they are compelled to wait sixteen or seventeen days before they receive any pay. As most of these workers are married men, with families and dependents, the workers are forced to borrow money or to seek credit to tide them over until pay day. Moreover, at the first pay day of the month, if, after working sixteen or seventeen days, the workers have managed to earn $54.90, they are not given the $54.90 they have earned and is due them, but are given their pay in multiples of five, that is $50, thus being deprived of $4.90 until the month has expired.

Manifestly, this method of payment is unfair and unjust, and a more equitable system should be established. The laws of Massachusetts require weekly pay days in industrial establishments, and for this reason alone the Postoffice Department should conform to the State laws, inasmuch as this conformity would not entail any hardship.

Perhaps you might suggest that this matter is properly an administrative matter and should be treated as such. It is an administrative matter, and the employes have made all possible efforts to have the matter adjusted through the postoffice administration. Their efforts were unsuccessful, and accordingly the workers are endeavoring to obtain by legislative means what they could not obtain by administrative means.

Apparently a small matter, I can assure you from personal observation that this matter is a serious one and means a great deal to "our women folks," who do the "planning" and the "worrying."

It is also an excellent example of the lack of co-operation between the Postoffice Department and the employes; shows how hard the employes must fight to obtain what rightfully belongs to them, and shows what the Postoffice Department could easily grant, without being forced by mandatory legislation.

Thanking you for your never-failing interest in our behalf, and asking you to call on me for any further information you may desire, permit me,

JOHN A. KELLEY,
Sec.-Treas., Mass. Fed. of P. O. Clerks, Coolidge Corner 47, Mass.

Stars and Stripes

Everything has gone up except writing paper, and that remains stationery.

Abbrevaited attire becomes some women, but others would look better with more clothes on.

In those days when all writing was done on chunks of rock, it must have taken a crowbar to break the news.

It is said that man cannot live by bread alone, but in these days of high prices he almost has to do it.

MOTIVE OF HUSBAND IS THE TEST

By Winifred Black

THE man's wife has deceived him. She confesses it and says she will never deceive him again. Shall he take her back and try to believe her again?

She has always been a good woman before this. She is the most loving, comfortable little wife in the world. She makes a real home for the man, and—there is a little boy. A laughing, roguish, clear-eyed boy, who loves his mother and thinks she is the most perfect being on earth. What shall the man do?

He wants to know. That's the worst part of it—he wants to know. If he only knew himself, now, there wouldn't be any doubt of what to do.

If he could not forgive her, then the thing would be settled right then and there.

If he could forgive her, and feel all right about it, who is there to interfere by one single syllable?

But he doesn't know—he can't decide.

"I love her," says the man in his letter. "I love her and I believe she really loves me. She is a helpless little thing, and I don't see what she can do without me, and I believe it would kill the boy to part him from his mother. What is the right thing for me to do? I want to do the right thing, just the right thing, that's all."

Bless your heart, man alive. I wonder what you are! So big that you are almost godlike, so small that you are beneath contempt?

Do you want to forgive the woman because you love her and are sorry for her and anxious to do the right thing for the boy?

Motive Is Whole Thing

If that's your idea—why, then, hats off to the man, every inch of him!

You are doing the noblest, kindest, bravest, truest thing a man can do.

Or do you want to take her back because you can't be comfortable without her? Do you care so little for her that you don't care what she has done, so long as you can have her again?

That's different—quite different.

Do you know where you stand, yourself?

The path of a man who takes a woman back because he doesn't quite know where he could get as good a housekeeper is never strewn with roses, nor even poppies, and it should not be.

I've known such men. One I think of in particular.

His wife ran away from him with his dearest friend, and he followed the pair and begged the woman to go home with him.

The woman went, and that man never let her have one moment's peace again.

What One Big Man Did

I knew another man who did the same thing, but for quite a different reason.

He went away on a long journey, and while he was gone a man he knew made a fool of the man's wife, and she threw her good name to the winds and followed the false friend who brought her poor, silly feet to the Road of Agony.

When her husband learned about it he went after his wife, and he took her home and comforted her and stood her friend, and no one ever dared to hint to the man that any one but he himself and the wife and the other man knew of the wretched, heart-breaking story.

And all who knew the real truth of the affair admired and respected the man, for they knew that he did what he did because he realized that his wife was a foolish, light-headed girl and that he should not have left her alone so often and so long.

What shall you do, oh, man with the struggling soul?

Search your own heart and find there the answer.
